Objectives and activities

The aims of the Hebridean Whale and Dolphin Trust Limited are to:-

- 1) carry out research regarding cetaceans in the waters off the west coast of Scotland
- 2) increase public awareness and understanding of cetaceans in that area
- 3) undertake educational work regarding cetaceans in schools around the west coast

Achievements and performance

Our winter survey programme continues to generate more information about the year-round presence of marine mammals in Hebridean seas. These surveys are important given that little winter data currently exists for the region. Surveys took place Jan-March around Mull, Loch Sunart, the Sound of Jura and Loch Linnhe. 630 km was surveyed, 47 hours of acoustic recordings made and 75 harbour porpoise detected. During these surveys we also had 30 sightings from three species (common seal, harbour porpoise, otter). Winter surveys did not take place in November and December 2020 as planned due to tightening of Scottish Government Covid-19 restrictions towards the end of the year.

In February HWDT delivered a WiSe Training course in Fort William; 13 individuals gained WiSe accreditation in responsible wildlife watching. In total, we have now trained 40 companies, on the west coast of Scotland.

With the impact of the pandemic all in person education activities were cancelled in 2020, HWDT has used this time to take our education work online. Primary school pupils will now be able to access engaging and informative resources and lessons digitally from their school. These unique resources are a re-imagining of our acclaimed floating classroom sessions. Each lesson includes video teaching from Silurian, as well as interactive activities and fun worksheets, designed to link to the curriculum.

Even with the challenges of Covid-19, we maintained our long-term acoustic marine mammal monitoring programme in 2020. During August - October we completed 1,758 nautical miles of acoustic monitoring over 44 days, surveying from Tiumpan Head in the north, to Stanton Banks in the south, collecting over 310 hours of acoustic recordings. Comparable coverage to the same period in 2019. Although we couldn't conduct our usual dedicated visual surveys, 421 sightings of 3,127 individual animals were recorded from Silurian in 2020. Five cetacean species (harbour porpoise, common dolphin, Risso's dolphin, white-beaked dolphin, minke whale), two seal species (common, grey), basking shark and a Leatherback turtle were documented.

The total number of people submitting sightings to HWDT increased this year by 2%. Despite lock down and fewer people being out and about, more people joined HWDT in looking for and reporting their sightings on Whale Track this year compared to last. Five hundred new users registered to use the app in 2020. Whale Track sightings were down 56% in 2020, due to fewer excursions being submitted by wildlife tour/cruise partners who were unable to operate this year due to Covid-19 restrictions. The platform now has 2,165 users and has amassed 14,551 sightings since it launched in 2017.

The Centre opened for a short but sweet season in line with the Scottish Government guidelines for Covid-19; 68 days in total with 1,350 visitors. Even so we've been very busy implementing Covid-19 restrictions and maximising the engagement with those that could visit us and sharing our passion for Hebridean cetaceans and marine conservation.

The Hebridean Whale Trail won the prestigious RSPB Nature of Scotland Coasts and Waters Award in November. By promoting low-impact marine wildlife watching from land, the trail is championing the importance of protecting the Hebrides' wonderful and globally important marine wildlife. In March we were awarded funding from the National Lottery Heritage Fund to support the next phase of the project – Gateway to the Trail; home of the whales, heart of the Hebrides. This project, running until 2023, will transform the HWDT centre in Tobermory into a gateway to explore the award winning Hebridean Whale Trail and enable HWDT to continue our work with site partners through an events and activities programme.

Our research into whale entanglement in Scottish waters continued with the Scottish Entanglement Alliance; a report was submitted to the International Whaling Commission. We have also continued to collate data for our photo-ID research and were delighted to confirm the return of some well-known minke whales to Hebridean seas in 2020, including Knobble, Snowy and Kasey.

HWDT visual and acoustic data were prepared and shared with NatureScot for a project to assess the abundance and distribution of cetaceans and sharks in Scotland and to inform the mobile species monitoring plan for Scottish territorial waters. HWDT joined the JNCC steering group to establish a UK wide cetacean data portal to improve accessibility for cetacean data. This work included bringing our acoustic dataset up to date for the first time in 10 years and sharing our Whale Track data with a statutory nature conservation body for the first time.

In December the Scottish Government designated four new Marine Protected Areas (MPAs) in Scottish waters for minke whale, basking shark and Risso's dolphin. This includes the Sea of the Hebrides MPA which is UKs first marine protected area for minke whales (alongside the Southern Trench MPA) and the world's first MPA for basking sharks. HWDT has engaged with the MPA process for many years, first proposing three of these sites in 2011, providing scientific evidence to support site selection and advocating for the protection of this important area for nearly 10 years.

At a time of global climate emergency and biodiversity loss across the UK and globally, HWDT's mission to protect our uniquely rich Hebridean seas has never been more critical. Thank you to the staff, volunteers, trustees, partners, funders and charity's supporters for your contributions towards this mission during a challenging year.

Financial Review

The impact of Covid-19 on the Trust in 2020 has been substantial. HWDT lost a significant proportion of earned income in 2020. Earned income is generated seasonally, April-October, by delivering activities such as research expeditions, training courses, events, and trading from our small Centre gift shop. These activities could not take place due to lockdown and restrictions on physical distancing. The Trust's Centre in Tobermory remained closed for much of the season, reopening with reduced hours and capacity in August and all our income generating research expeditions were cancelled for 2020.

Emergency funding of £58,700 from the National Lottery Heritage Fund (Heritage Emergency Fund), a £17,500 award from Argyll and Bute Council from the Small Business Support Fund and support for staff wages from the Coronavirus Job Retention Scheme has helped to protect our charity against the initial financial impact of Covid-19 during 2020.

As highlighted above the Trust has seen a substantial drop in income this year. The unrestricted reserves meets the reserves policy.

Reserves Policy

The Trust aims to hold an amount equal to 25% of its expected annual expenditure as unrestricted cash assets at the low point of its financial year. At the year-end unrestricted reserves showed a balance of £199,693. Of the unrestricted reserves £73,623 has been allocated by trustees for a designated boat fund and agreed match funds designated for the new Gateway to the Trail project, leaving £126,070 of free unrestricted reserves. This reserve is additional to the Trust's two main fixed assets of boat and visitor centre/shop.

Statement of directors' responsibilities

The directors are responsible for preparing the annual report and the financial statements in accordance with applicable law and United Kingdom Generally Accounting Practice.

Company and charity law requires the directors to prepare financial statements for each financial year which give a true and fair view of the state of affairs of the charity and of the surplus or deficit of the charity for that year. In preparing these financial statements, the directors are required to:-

- Select suitable accounting policies and then apply them consistently,
- Observe the methods and principles in the Charities SORP
- Make judgements and estimates that are reasonable and prudent;
- State whether applicable UK Accounting Standards and statements of recommended practice have been followed subject to any material departures disclosed and explained in the financial statements; and
- Prepare the financial statements on the going concern basis unless it is inappropriate to presume that the charity will continue in operation.

The directors are responsible for keeping proper accounting records which disclose with reasonable accuracy at any time the financial position of the charity and which enable them to ensure that the financial statements comply with the Companies Act 2006, the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005, and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006. They are also responsible for safeguarding the assets of the charity and hence for taking reasonable steps for the prevention and detection of fraud and other irregularities.

Small company provisions

This report has been prepared in accordance with the special provisions for small companies under Part 15 of the Companies Act 2006.

This report was approved by the Board on 17th Septenter 2021 and signed on its behalf by: De. J. Borner . Chare

Respective responsibilities of directors and independent examiner

The charity's trustees (who are also directors of the company under company law) are responsible for the preparation of the accounts in accordance with the terms of the Charities and Trustee Investment (Scotland) Act 2005 and the Charities Accounts (Scotland) Regulations 2006. Basis of independent examiner's statement

My examination is carried out in accordance with Regulation 11 of the 2006 Accounts Regulations. An examination includes a review of the accounting records kept by the charity and a comparison of the accounts presented with those records. It also includes consideration of any unusual items or disclosures in the accounts and seeks explanations from you as trustees concerning any such matters. The procedures undertaken do not provide all the evidence that would be required in an audit, and consequently I do not express an audit opinion on the view given by the accounts.

Independent examiner's statement

In the course of my examination, no matter has come to my attention

- which gives me reasonable cause to believe that in any material respect the requirements:
 - to keep accounting records in accordance with section 44 (1) (a) of the 2005 Act and Regulation 4 of the 2006 Accounts Regulations
 - to prepare accounts which accord with the accounting records and to comply with Regulation 8 of the 2006 Accounts Regulations

1 Accounting policies

The principal accounting policies are summarised below. The accounting policies have been applied consistently throughout the year.

Basis of accounting

The financial statements have been prepared in accordance with Accounting and Reporting by Charities: Statement of Recommended Practice applicable to charities preparing their accounts and in accordance with the Financial Reporting Standard (FRS 102) effective January 2016, and the Companies Act 2006. Assets and Liabilities are initially recognised at historical cost or transaction values unless otherwise stated.

Incoming recognition policies

All incoming resources are included in the statement of financial activities when the charity is entitled to the income and the amount can be quantified with reasonable accuracy. The following specific policies are applied to particular categories of income:-

Voluntary income is received by way of grants, donations and gifts and is included in full in the statement of financial activities when receivable. Grants, where entitlement is not conditional on the delivery of a specific performance by the charity, are recognised when the charity becomes unconditionally entitled to the grant.

Donated services and facilities are included at the value to the charity where this can be quantified. The value of services provided by volunteers has not been included.

Grants, including grants for the purchase of fixed assets are recognised in full in the statement of financial activities in the year in which they are receivable.

Income from investments is included in the year in which it is receivable.

Expenditure

Expenditure is recognised on an accruals basis as a liability is incurred. Expenditure includes any VAT which cannot be fully recovered, and is reported as part of the expenditure to which it relates.

Costs of generating funds comprise the costs associated with attracting voluntary income and the costs of trading for fundraising purposes.

Charitable expenditure comprises those costs incurred by the charity in the delivery of its activities and services for its beneficiaries. It includes both costs that can be allocated directly to such activities and those costs of an indirect nature necessary to support them.

Fund accounting

Unrestricted funds can be used in accordance with the charitable objectives at the discretion of the Directors. Designated funds are unrestricted funds which the Directors have decided to set aside to use for a specific purpose.

Restricted funds can only be used for particular restricted purposes within the objects of the charity. Restrictions arise when specified by the donor or when funds are raised for particular restricted purposes.
